CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL AID
WORK OF WAR RELIEF COMMITTEESuggestion Made That Hawaii
Send Island Products to Suffering Europe

There being a general war relief committee already organized, the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu at the special session held this morning to take up the question of relief for the Belgians, voted to make a canvass of its members and turn the money over to the war relief committee to be forwarded to the place where it will do the most good.

This is the response to the request from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce received the other day.

The vote of the Honolulu Chamber follows:

"That the finance and audit committee of this chamber be instructed to make a canvass forthwith for the purpose of securing funds, in as large amount as is possible, for the relief of the suffering Belgians. That the amount be turned over to the general war relief committee and that the Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco be notified that this Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with an already established movement for the relief of suffering Belgians. That the finance and audit committee be authorized to increase their number if found necessary for the purpose.

Attendance at the meeting showed a very general interest and the discussion showed an earnest desire to assist the sufferers quickly and effectively.

One suggestion was made that Hawaii send its products, that is, sugar, pineapple, rice and possibly taro. This was met with the comment that Hawaii sought to make its contribution be most effective. Those in immediate charge of the relief could undoubtedly use the money to better advantage than such food products as Hawaii could forward. It was also brought out that Honolulu was not using this as a promotion or advertising scheme. It wished to help and do so in the quickest manner possible.

So far as San Francisco was concerned, while it would be all right to cooperate with San Francisco, what Hawaii might do should be done as direct from Hawaii, and furthermore a general relief committee for the relief of the sufferers of all nations through the war has been in existence and actively at work for some weeks.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS
REPORTED ARREST OF
TRIO OF JAPANESE

A trio of Japanese, said to have been loitering in the vicinity of Pearl Harbor, are reported to have been placed under arrest by Federal authorities at a late hour Monday night. Considerable mystery surrounds the identity of the three alleged prisoners, also the identity of the branch of Uncle Sam's government handling the arrest. It has variously been reported that the navy department, the war department and the customs officials had the men under arrest, while Dame Rumor has had the men employed in various capacities from family servants to officials in the Japanese army or navy.

While none of the representatives of the various branches of the United States government will deny that the arrests have been made, none will affirm the rumor. At the headquarters of the Hawaiian Department the aids to General Carter are noncommittal. Collector Franklin, as usual, has nothing to say for publication. "White Admiral" Moore said emphatically, when asked regarding the matter, "I have captured no Japanese officers."

The aviators, reported yesterday to have made a flight, made emphatic denial to the Star-Bulletin yesterday afternoon that any flights had been made by them on Oahu; however, from high official circles the report is persistent that at least one flight has been made by these aviators, possibly more. That one flight was made last Saturday morning is the contention.

Charged with having committed an assault upon Police Officer Marcus Sanders, Antonio Silva, better known as the "Punchbowl Demon," will be up for trial in the federal court at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Morning on
'CHANGE

Some vagaries were evident in the stock sales list this morning. While Ewa dropped two points, Oahu advanced one point. McBryde gained 1/4 and Brewery lost 1/4 between boards, only to pick it up again at session. Of McBryde 123 shares were sold, including a block of 100, in recess, at 5. Brewery went at 15 for 15 shares reported, advancing 1/2 for 20 shares in three lots on the board. Ewa sold at 20.75 for 30 shares between boards. Oahu brought 19 for 100 shares in four unequal lots at session.

POLICE
SIFtings

M. McGowan will be brought to Honolulu today by Deputy Sheriff Walter Davis, who alleges that McGowan while under the influence of liquor tried to set fire to the sugar mill at Waimanalo plantation. Sheriff Rose will file a charge of arson against McGowan.

William Dankers, an enlisted man from the United States army, brought before District Magistrate Monsarrat upon a charge of heedless and reckless driving in which he is alleged to have run down and injured Mrs. H. Cunningham, has been turned over to the military authorities for disposition, the case having been stricken from the police court calendar this morning.

NATIONAL GUARD
OFFICERS TO MEET

A special meeting of the officers of the National Guard of Hawaii has been called for this evening at the armory at 7:30 o'clock. Matters of considerable importance to the guard are to come up for discussion, and a full attendance is expected.

On a directed verdict a jury in Circuit Judge Ashford's court acquitted Matale Kapahuanui this morning of the charge of embezzling funds from the Kalihii and Moanalua Church Corporation, Ltd. Attorney S. F. Chillingworth, for the accused man, moved for the directed verdict after First Deputy City and County Attorney P. L. Weaver had asked that a nolle prosequi be entered.

JEFF M'CARN

rose from his seat at the counsel table and shook hands with Attorney J. Alfred Magoon, his remaining counsel. After receiving the congratulations of a large number of his friends the district attorney joined a group of ladies who have watched the trial with interest during the past few days, among them being Mrs. McCarn, Miss Cornelia McCarn and Miss Mary D. McCarn. Shortly after, Mr. McCarn left the courtroom in company with his family.

A member of the jury which acquitted McCarn has stated that the jury-men remained in confinement just long enough to sign their names to the verdict.

The territory completed its taking of rebuttal testimony at 10 o'clock and then rested its case. Mr. McCarn then moved that the case be submitted to the jury without argument. City and County Attorney J. W. Cathcart took the proposition under consideration, eventually consenting to the motion of defense being allowed. Instructions were given by Judge Whitney at 10:15 o'clock, at which time the court stated that all of the instructions prepared by the opposing counsel had been technically refused. The case went to the jury at 10:35 o'clock.

Following the trial of the Sylvester conspiracy case in the federal court on the afternoon of May 5 of this year, in which the prosecution was conducted by Jeff McCarn and the defense by Claudius H. McBride, the attorneys engaged in an "affair" in the hallway on the second floor of the building, at which time it was alleged McCarn drew a gun on McBride. The latter knocked the district attorney down and later had him arrested in the police court on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

McCarn was released on his own recognizance and later indictments were brought against him by the territorial and federal grand juries, each claiming that their respective courts had jurisdiction to try the district attorney.

A decision handed down by Judge Sanford B. Dole was to the effect that the local federal court did not have jurisdiction to try the case. Steps were immediately taken by the territorial court, and the initial trial of McCarn was begun September 14 before Circuit Judge William L. Whitney. After three weeks of hearings the case was submitted to a jury, the members of which were unable to agree. A motion for a retrial was immediately made, beginning a week later. The retrial came to a close this morning with the returning of a verdict of not guilty. More than 50 witnesses were called during each trial.

At the beginning of the first trial Mr. McCarn had a staff of four attorneys, three of whom dropped out during the proceedings. With the departure of his chief counsel for the mainland during the middle of the retrial, Mr. McCarn assumed the duties of chief of counsel, and continued in that capacity until the end. He was assisted by Attorney Magoon, the only remaining counsel.

The authenticity of the story published in the Star-Bulletin recently to the effect that Attorney J. Lightfoot, chief of counsel for Jeff McCarn, was en route to Washington, D. C., in the interest of the district attorneyship, which story was emphatically denied by Mr. Lightfoot's son, was confirmed this morning by Mr. McCarn, who made the statement that Mr. Lightfoot now is in the national capital.

GOVERNOR MERZ
OF MARSHALLS IS
LOCAL VISITORFormer German Official Now
En Route to Fatherland By Way of United States

Compelled to leave a beautifully appointed executive residence and practically all personal effects behind, virtually a prisoner of war, though treated with every courtesy after reaching Tokyo, Governor P. Merz, who until September 5 represented the German government as its chief official in the 33 islands making the Marshall group, who planned to remain for some weeks at Honolulu, proceeded to the coast yesterday as a passenger in the Pacific Mail liner Spheria.

Governor Merz, with Mrs. Merz, Miss Theresa Merz and an infant son accompanied by a native servant, proceeded to be charmed with Honolulu, stating that the islands reminded them of the home which they had left following the invasion of the Marshalls by the Japanese during the early part of September.

Jaluit, the capital of the archipelago that lies about 2000 miles to the south and west of Honolulu, was surprised September 4 by the appearance of several large Japanese war vessels, one of which is stated by visiting Germans now in this city to have been the Hizen, now patrolling the entrance to the harbor.

Previous to the arrival of the Japanese armada, practically all vessels of any note had left Jaluit and other islands in the group. In the opinion of Governor Merz, about four sailing vessels of less than 30 tons, which had been employed in pearling and trading between the islands, may have fallen a prey to Japanese prowess.

During the early part of August the Germans captured a Japanese freighter which had been denuded of all its machinery and other valuable material. The same treatment had been accorded a British tramp steamer. These hulks were beached and are presumed to have been retaken by the invading force.

The former executive of the Marshall islands and his family were ordered on board a Japanese cruiser which, after calling at several ports along the China coast, carried the party to Tokyo.

According to Governor Merz, he was kindly treated while held at the Nippon capital. He however welcomed the opportunity to take passage on a vessel flying a neutral flag and bound for a neutral country.

The Marshall islands fell to the lot of Germany in 1885 and according to the official who passed through Honolulu they lie in two parallel chains, the Ratak group of 15; and the Ralik group of 18 islands. There is not a bit of land throughout the whole archipelago that reaches a height of more than 10 feet above high tide, so stated the governor. The islands are extremely fertile and a vast amount of copra is produced, while fruits also abound. Under his dominion were about 14,000 islanders, who to a large extent resemble the Malay. Governor Merz and family intend to find their way back to the fatherland by the first available transportation leaving the east coast of the United States. While here the party was extensively entertained by the local German colony.

Maiolo, accused of keeping liquor for sale without a license; Henry Johnson and Nicolai Chuparen, assault and battery, and Tai Loy, keeping a disorderly house.

Weaver first attempted to introduce a map of the Kalihii church and the court ordered him to show the pertinence of this evidence. After 15 minutes' consideration of the point Weaver asked for a nolle prosequi. Chillingworth objected, on the ground that a jury had already been empaneled and his client had pleaded not guilty, standing ready to undergo trial. Chillingworth's motion was accepted by the court.

CARTER, LEAVING FOR MAINLAND, RESIGNS, BUT CHAMBER DOESN'T ACCEPT

President Carter left with the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu his undated resignation, which the chamber will not accept unless Mr. Carter behaves very badly indeed during his absence.

At the special meeting held this morning the presiding officer stated that Mr. Carter had sent in his resignation as president owing to his temporary absence from the city. Mr. Bishop explained that Mr. Carter undoubtedly followed in this matter his custom of offering his resignation on various corporation directorates when leaving for an extended period for the mainland.

Mr. Spaulding suggested that it be placed on file as an "undated resignation." It will not be accepted unless an emergency arises.

her "career." It may not be of her own choosing or just what she would have preferred; it may even have come to her instead of her seeking it; but if she has adopted it, holding it before her as an object to accomplish, she is not without her coveted "career."

Whether it be in a position of responsibility in the financial world, of prominence in the social, political, artistic, or in the home as a model housekeeper and home-maker, she may have this definite end in view and it is her "career." It was once supposed that one had to go outside of the home if she adopted a career, but the art of being a good housekeeper has become so desirable that the girl may set so high a standard of attainment in this line, in being a model housekeeper, in the joy and happiness she may give to the other inmates in the home, that she may have one of the most satisfactory careers and yet put her best endeavors within its shelter.

A "career" has come to be recognized, not as the great shining star in a far-off horizon which requires the sacrifice of all that a girl holds dear, but the placing of a high aim, keeping it ever before her and working hard to reach it, in whatever line of endeavor she may find herself, whether she is there because of her own desire and ambitions or because circumstances have placed her there and her good judgment and clear common sense have caused her the ambition to aim for a high standard of perfection in it.
